Never heard of the Czech or Slovak gothic subculture? And you thought that lands of Kafka, Golem or Elisabeth Bathory, places with hundreds of years of occult tradition could be ignorant to the dark beauty of the Goth scene? Of course not! And now the time has come to come out!

Sanctuary.cz (goth webzine/promoter that has been taking care of the local dark scene for 13 years) decided to compile the very first anthology of the Czech and Slovak goth-related acts. On "Dark Tunes from Czech and Slovak Caves" you will find 25 tracks that describe the current scene, stylistically ranging from "oldschool goth", post punk, deathrock and darkwave through synthpop, cold wave and dark/harsh electro to dark ambient, neofolk and even witch house. Except for names that already resonate throughout the goth scene worldwide like The Last Days of Jesus, Lahka Muza, Tabor Radosti or Phragments, there is a bunch of promising newcomers who left their lairs for the very first time and shared their previously unreleased material with the world.

The compilation can be downloaded (with a PDF booklet supplemented with short description of each act) for free either from www.darktunes.cz or Bandcamp (<https://sanctuarycz.bandcamp.com>).

Explore unheard-of musical territories and find yourself new favourite dark artists from the very heart of Europe!
